

Real Events Now Available in the Oracle Cloud Marketplace

Oracle Cloud Customers Can Discover Real Events with the MyQR mobile app to elevate and socialize their events

San Francisco, Calif., September 24, 2013-- Real Intelligence, a leading provider of CRM Applications for Event / Space management today announced that the company's event registration, badging, and ticketing solution, the Real Events application, is now available in the new Oracle Cloud Marketplace.

The Oracle Cloud Marketplace is a global marketplace where partners can publish applications and customers can browse through and discover new solutions that extend Oracle Cloud SaaS applications to address their business needs. The Oracle Cloud Marketplace helps Oracle Cloud customers review granular details of Real Events, including user ratings and reviews.

Key features that can help you manage your events:

- Create Registration Pages for events that integrate easily with existing websites
- Utilize the QR Code generator for Badges and Tickets from each registration submitted and scan with the MyQR mobile app
- Save time with the Electronic Mobile Show Guide that is automatically created and optimized for mobile devices

"Real Events typically replaces three or four applications and simplifies the management of seminars, conferences, and user group meetings. It helps increase productivity and decrease the effort to run first class socialized events," said Steve Kompolt, CEO, Real Intelligence.

"Real Intelligence's participation in the Oracle Cloud Marketplace further extends our reach into the Oracle community and enables customers to easily reap the benefits of Real Events. Utilizing the power of the Oracle Cloud will assist us in achieving our business goals," he added.
